example: If the herd, which is apparently passing the other is primarily an additional section of the herd, the direction of the herd can be followed by a group of dancers or other objects. In order to avoid any potential damage to the herd, the dancers can follow the herd at a safe distance, using motion detectors. This helps the herd to avoid any potential collisions or accidents. The herd's movement is a function of the dancers' movements. To ensure the dancers are safe, they should keep a safe distance.
